2	anonymous	Very clear and well presented.
3	anonymous	I believe you have done a remarkable job of highlighting your skills and experience and going into detail. The only thing missing is your advanced diploma inside your education section and updating your education section to be accurate to your current state.
4	anonymous	Great(Very well)
5	anonymous	I think it is good, no need for changes. Just keep it up to date over time.

I updated my education section with my Advanced Diploma and will make sure I keep these sections updated. I feel this is good for employers to fully see the extent of my education.

4	anonymous	Complete
5	anonymous	It doesn't link to your personal itch.io anywhere. Your account, not just crowns coach. Other than that, pretty complete.

Solid feedback. Will continue to update these areas with more detail and make sure I include a link to my personal itch.io page which I am still working on to better display my portfolio pieces.

3	anonymous	if you refer to your about section, it could go into more detail about components of your career that are uniquely you like whether you would like to be a specialist or generalist, if a specialist what speciality, maybe go a little bit into what castle cab is to hint at your contributions.
4	anonymous	Effective
5	anonymous	Effective, but could do with adding projects you have worked on.

Good feedback for this section. Added my future plans and more details on my projects to beef up this section. This will give potential employers more information about me and increase my chances of getting hired.

4	anonymous	Relevant
5	anonymous	It is all relevant, should post more though.

I'm not very fond of LinkedIn posts, I agree that I need to do more posts that showcase my work better and personalize my re-posts to add more value. Will do this with future posts once I complete my Itch.io personal portfolio.

4	anonymous	Well
5	anonymous	I think your reposts show that you contributed to projects, but you should make some posts yourself to show what you have done exactly. Maybe a video showcasing the character controller/physics?

This is good feedback; I do lack in this area. I made a new post about the final version of Castle Cab to better demonstrate my contributions and professional interests to potential employers and colleagues.

4	anonymous	Nothing much
5	anonymous	Any mechanic or game showcasing with videos specifically as in the last response. Also adding tags to the posts.

Noted using tags and hashtags for future posts. I kind of forgot about doing that and think it will add more professionalism to the posts and potentially create more engagement.

1	anonymous	The Header photo looks very generic like a stock photo. This could be used to show something with more relevance to yourself.
2	anonymous	I have no other feedback
3	anonymous	Add a feature section to showcase the projects you've made
4	anonymous	No, very good

I found a different header photo to use, the one I had was a placeholder from a long time ago.
The feature section for all my projects is a good idea but most of that will be displayed in my itch.io project on completion.
